DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 12, 1882.

Two other women who were injured in the Shanesville, O. disaster have died.

THERE is a general feeling at Washington favorable to Gen. Fitz John Porter.

THERE have been forty-three new cases of small-pox reported at Pittsburg, since Saturday.

In the United States Senate, a few days ago, Mr. Beck made an elaborate speech on the subject of the tariff.

Loeb & Co., clothing dealers and W. H. Powell & Co., hatters, of Cincinnati, have failed and made assignments.

RIDDLEBERGER's debt bill has been introduced in the Virginia Legislature. The chances are all in favor of its passage.

The Kentucky House has passed a bill to strike from the statutes imprisonment for life for murder, but it is thought the Senate will defeat it.

The appointment of a Court of Appeals which will declare readjustment constitutional is one of the earliest acts expected of the Virginia Legislature.

There were in the State, 412,028 white school children, between six and twenty years of age, and 47,924 colored in 1880, but only 406,095 white and 44,930 colored in 1881.

The last annual report of the State auditor shows that Bourbon, Boyle, Fayette, Jackson, Johnson, Mercer and Oldham counties raised no corn in the years 1880 and 1881.

There are prospects that the Nicaraguan Canal project will die. Gen. Grant has withdrawn his name as an incorporator, and it is expected that other prominent gentlemen will follow suit.

SMALL-POX is spreading through Illinois, particularly along the Mississippi river. Steamboat officers will be required to enforce the vaccination of all their hands, or they will not be permitted to land.

At a meeting at Toledo, Ohio, recently, Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan Trotting Circuit was formed, and dates made for spring races at Louisville, Cincinnati, Maysville, Columbus, Toledo, Detroit, Jackson, Saginaw and Grand Rapids.

The N. Y. Herald contains a list of the names of those who perished by the burning of the Ring Theater, at Vienna, in Austria. The list is the most accurate yet presented to the public. It fills five closely printed columns of the Herald, and contains the names of eight hundred and ninety-four victims, including men, women and children. It is possible that this terrible number may yet be enlarged.

The Atlanta Cotton Fair was a great success notwithstanding the costs of buildings and expenses footed up more than a quarter of a million of dollars. Something less than half this sum was subscribed as stock, and upon this there will be a dividend when the business of the association is wound up. The good achieved was the stimulus given to industrial enterprise at the South, the acquaintance of the people with improvements in machinery, the turning of Northern capital to Southern fields, and the friendly intercourse between people from different parts of the country who assembled there. The value of the exhibition, though greatest for the South, belongs to the whole country, since the agricultural inventions of the North were prominent with the products of the South.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 12, 1882.

OUR rapid boys who spend their time
In frolicking and sporting,
Will very likely have a chance,
This week, to do some courting.

And let them bear this truth in mind,
As judgment grows the riper,
That he who figures in the dance
Must surely "pay the piper."

FREIGHT to go by the Kentucky Central to the interior is now shipped by the Morning Mail to this city.

THE new horse disease, pink-eye, has broken out in this city. Some of the stage and livery horses are afflicted with it.

THE town of Danville, Ky., has appropriated $200 for the vaccination of its citizens. Maysville might profitably do the same thing.

NEXT Sunday evening at seven o'clock Elder J. B. Briney will preach a sermon to young people. Subject: Getting Ready to get Married.

THE railroad bridge over Licking river near Cynthiana, has been washed away again. It was carried away by the freshet in that stream yesterday.

AT the recent election at Vanceburg, Joseph Sparks was chosen mayor, John Sanders, marshal, E. H. Fitch, attorney, and L. H. Parker, assessor.

THE Morning Mail to-day brought for Omar Dodson 212 barrels molasses, 37 hogsheads of sugar, 59 barrels of rice, beside a large quantity of miscellaneous freight.

We noticed yesterday, standing in front of the Merrimac Warehouse at one time fifteen wagons loaded with tobacco. The weather has been very favorable for moving the crop.

REV. A. M. COLLINS, who has been lecturing in this city and Aberdeen is having great success at the latter place and with lecture there again to-night. The public is invited to hear him.

NEAL, Craft and Ellis, under the escort of the state troops, arrived safely at Catlettsburg. No attempt at violence was made at any point along the route. The grand jury has been considering the case but the result has not yet been made public.

THE marriage of Miss Ella Mathews, one of our most attractive, and popular young ladies, to Mr. James C. Newcomb, editor and proprietor of the Ripley (O.) Bee and Times, will be solemnized at the residence of Mr. W. B. Mathews the bride's father at five o'clock Wednesday evening, January 18th.

THE painting of Dr. A. H. Wall's new residence, on Front street, by Mr. A. B. Greenwood, has been finished and is pronounced by all who have seen it as very fine work. Mr. Greenwood has used his best skill and spared no pains to make this the best piece of work he has ever done. It certainly reflects the highest credit upon his skill and taste.

THE marriage of Mrs. Susan Bently to Mr. Charles Fowler, was solemnized at the residence of Mr. H. Hubbard of this city, on the 5th inst., Rev J. B. Briney officiating. The following is a list of the presents received by the bride:

The groom, handsome necklace and bracelets. Alex. Fowler, silver castor. Miss Kate Fowler, silver pickle stand. Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Dye, wash stand set. Mrs. M. J. Wilson, pair of vases. Thomas Fowler, hat rack. Mrs. Little Fowler, handsome lamp. Aunt Batzell, needle and thread case. Miss Fannie Hubbard, butter knife. Miss Mollie Neal, butter stand. Wm. Fowler, dressing gown for the groom.

LATEST FROM CATLETSBURG.

Arrival of the Prisoners—Intense Excitement Prevailing—The Case Still in the Hands of the Grand Jury.

Special to the DAILY BULLETIN.

CATLETSBURG, Ky., January 12, 1882.—The State Guards in charge of the Ashland murderers arrived here safely at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. The murderers were immediately lodged in the jail. The guards are quartered at the court house and the various county buildings. The case has been submitted to the grand jury and is still in their hands. Thus far about thirty witnesses have been examined. The most intense excitement prevails and a strong guard has been placed over the prisoners.

Circuit Court.

SECOND DAY.

W. A. Stockdale and others were convicted of setting up a gaming table and fined $50 and costs.

Wm. Munsing, sr., was found guilty of selling liquor to a minor and fined $50 and costs.

W. A. Stockdale was found guilty of permitting a gaming table to be set up and exhibited on his premises and fined $250 and costs.

W. R. ROBINSON, a painter by occupation, who some years ago lived in this city, a few months ago, in a drunken brawl at Malden, W. Va., shot and killed Adam Belcher, marshal of the town. The trial has since taken place and resulted in Robinson's conviction of murder in the first degree and a sentence of death. The following despatch gives the particulars:

W. R. Robinson, who was tried and convicted this term of court for the murder of Adam Belcher, town sergeant of Malden, on the 15th of November, received his sentence to-day. He received the fatal sentence without flinching, and when the judge closed he said: "Thank you. I am hung by prosecuting attorney Snyder's mob," meaning the jury. He also wanted to know if the court was taking revenge on him for the numerous murders committed in the county for the past ten years. This is the first sentence of death passed upon a man in this county since 1858, when Press Farley was hung for the murder of his wife; but, judging from the promptness with which this court is forcing criminals to trial, there will be several like sentences during the present year. Robinson's execution has been fixed for April 7th, unless an appeal, which has been applied for, is granted.

G. M. WILLIAMS.

Mrs. W. E. Lane, whose sad death at Augusta, by her own hand we have already noticed, died between six and seven o'clock on the morning of the 11th inst. When she got up about six o'clock she was in good spirits and played with her little son for a few minutes. A little later she went into an adjoining room and fired the fatal shot into her left breast. She lived about two hours. No cause is assigned for the rash act.

A DESPATCH from Louisville, to the Cincinnati Enquirer announces the assignment for the benefit of his creditors, of Dr. H. Ebersole, formerly of this city. The despatch is as follows:

The deed of assignment between H. Ebersole and D. H. French of L'Grange, Ky., to whom the former assigns all his property of every kind was filed with county clerk Webb, to day (January 9th) and takes with it a bill of sale transaction in this city as well as many houses and lots in Covington, Ky. Mr. Ebersole, who is forced into an assignment, has been an invalid for several years, and consequently has not been able to attend to his business. He has visited Florida, several times and engaged in the cultivation of an orange grove, but the decline of his health continued, and he now assigns for the benefit of his creditors. The estate is one of the largest that has been assigned here for several years. Mr. Ebersole is well known throughout Ohio, especially at Cleveland and Cincinnati.

A Queen in Her Own Right.

What is pride? Pride is the possession which constantly urges us to rise above our fellow beings. Pride is the chief cause of the rise and fall of thrones, of feuds among families and friends, of wars, of duels, of discords which we would never witness were it not for the odious sentiment, pride. Pride of wealth and fame, of beauty and accomplishments, of ancestry, all these are different kinds of false pride.

Pride of wealth heads the list. What is not done to obtain riches? Even in this enlightened era, many would sell their souls to the legendary fiend of mediaeval times, if possible, to obtain more wealth than their neighbors.

Fame comes next. What horrors are not passed through in order to become notorious, in order to leave to posterity a name covered with glory; to attain the eminent heights of power and dominion over nations?

Then comes pride of beauty, which, though seeming less powerful, is stronger yet than all other kinds of pride combined. A beautiful woman's aim in life consists in heightening her style of beauty, in becoming the belle of society and airing her accomplishments. All her better feelings are sacrificed to pride.

Last, but not least, comes the foolish pride of ancestry, a doting hobby of narrow-minded people who prefer the man with a pedigree to an honest one. Are not all honest men equal? Thrice blessed be America, my native land, where the finger of scorn is not pointed at a man not descending in direst line from barons of the feudal times.

My dissertation against sinful pride does not imply that we should be entirely devoid of honest pride. We must, on the contrary, be very proud of an unsullied name, of a pure career, of a life of goodness and of all honorable actions and virtues.

A Kentucky girl, most beautiful and accomplished, the reigning belle of the fashionable circles of New York, New Orleans and Washington, while visiting Rome, was presented to the Pope. "Kneel, my daughter," said he, as she stood erect in her imperial grace before him; "all kneel to me except the daughters of sovereigns."

"I am a princess in my own right, your Holiness," she replied.

"How can that be, when you are an American born?"

"In my country the people are sovereigns, and I am a daughter of the people."

The Pope smiled a gracious assent, saying: "Then receive an old man's blessing."

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1882.

The Sun for 1882, will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present management, as always, for all, big and little, mean and gracious, contented and unhappy, Republican and Democratic depraved and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The Sun's light is for mankind and womankind of every sort, but its genial warmth is for the good, while its punyshot discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

The Sun of 1882 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a multitude of the superfluous words and phrase of ancient journalism. It undertook to report in a fresh, succinct, unconventional way all the news of the world, omitting no event of human interest, and commenting upon affairs with the fearlessness of absolute independence. The success of this experiment was the success of the Sun.

It effected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important journal established in this country in the dozen years past has been modelled after the Sun. Every important journal already existing has been modified and bettered by the force of the Sun's example.

The Sun of 1882, will be the same outspoken, truth-telling, and interesting newspaper.

By a liberal use of the means which an abundant prosperity affords, we shall make it better than ever before.

We shall print all the news, putting it into readable shape, and measuring its importance, not by the traditional yardstick, but by its real interest to the people. Distance from Printing House Square is not the first consideration with the Sun. Whenever anything happens worth reporting we get the particulars, whether it happens in Brooklyn or in Bohemia.

In politics we have decided opinions and are accustomed express them in language that can be understood. We say what we think about men and events. That habit is the only secret of the Sun's political course.

The Weekly Sun gathers into eight pages the best matter of the seven daily issues. An Agricultural Department of the unequalled merit, full market reports, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific and domestic intelligence complete the Weekly Sun, and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household that was ever printed.

Who does not know and read like the Sunday Sun, each number of which is a Goldconda of interesting literature, with the poetry of the day, prose every line worth reading, news, humor—matter enough to fill a good sized book, and infinitely more varied and entertaining than any book, big or little?

If our idea of what a newspaper should be pleases you, send for the Sun.

Our terms are as follows. For the daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty-eighty columns, the price by mail, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year, or including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents per month, or $7.50 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of the Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free.
